Memphis Civil War Vet Reaches His 86th Year

Although celebrating today his 86th birthday anniversary, Byron Montney, Memphis Civil War veteran, is still very active. He cares for a large garden of which he is justly proud. Much of his leisure time is spent in reading. Mr. Montney was a member of Company I, Fourteenth New York Artillery. Although he was engaged in 22 battles, (with the exception of a slight scratch on his face) he escaped unharmed. Mr. Montney has six children: Mrs. Frank DeLand, Smith Creek; Miss Elma Montney at home; Mrs. Victor Willett, Vassar; Mrs. H. E. Holderness, Detroit; Charles, of Avoca, and Lee, of Memphis. Mrs. Montney died five years ago.

go to New York city where he will attend a 30-day course in scouting. His plans for the future are indefinite although it is understood he has offers in scouting work in larger fields.

Two Old Guns Shoved In Background By Whirl Of Courthouse Construction

Famous Old Cannon Must Wait Until Completion

COVERED WITH dust and their glories relegated to the memories of a day gone by, the two old cannon reposing at the base of the new county building now look singularly out of place.

Once they were the pride of the town—imparting a military snap to the green lawn surrounding the old red brick courthouse. But today the tall shaft rising nearby has dwarfed them into insignificance, and one of the cannon has even suffered the indignity of being hidden behind a rough board fence.

Roose, of Grosse Pointe, she reported to Mount Clemens police. She said she lost the purse somewhere between the Broadway Market and her home in Grosse Pointe.

participated, the two pieces of ordnance were dedicated to Major General Alexander Macomb and the soldiers and sailors who died in the Civil War.

The guns themselves originally came from Fort Mifflin, near Philadelphia, where they constituted a part of the defense of the Quaker town when it was threatened by Lee's army in 1863. Each weighs 8,450 pounds. The large iron balls in pyramid at the base of each gun, of course are not of the right caliber.

In the dedicatory ceremonies, 1901, Edgar Weeks said that "in the hundred years to come, this great gun and solid rock will stand inscribed in letters that will not perish, with the names of Alexander Macomb and the soldiers and sailors who died in the Civil War."

including Macomb, Cakland, St. Clair and will participate.

A Peach Queen will be chosen from entries of various communities in the fall. Governor Brucker will attend.

KEY TO SCHOOL

A key to Lincoln school pocket of a sweater some time Monday night in an automobile owned by Blohm, of 158 South street, Mount Clemens, was reported. A police report. A sweater and the key, was stolen.

FIRE AT COURT

The Mount Clemens court room was called at 5:30 Thursday night to the scene of a fire in the comb county courthouse. A pile of canvas and other material had caught fire. The fire was extinguished with chemical extinguishers. No damage resulted.

SHERIFF BEHRNE

Sheriff Henry B. Behrne, Wayne county, will be in town next week with his family. He will be staying at the Fair Haven, starting Monday. Sheriff Behrne called on the Wayne county sheriff, W. L. Williams, at his home in the city.

Famous But Forgotten

Perhaps, this was being a little too enthusiastic about Alexander Macomb's permanency of fame. He was a prominent soldier in the war of 1812, but it is probable that the average local citizen is not cognizant of that fact today.

In 1914, the monument on the southwest corner was rededicated to Col. John Stockton and the 118th Michigan Volunteer cavalry.

It is probable that the two cannon will remain in their present position for many years to come.

In the event that Gratiot is widened in front of the square, it is probable that the two guns will be moved back.

Bank Announcement

The four Mount Clemens Banks which have announced the interest rate reduction are the Citizens Savings Bank, First National Bank, Mount Clemens Savings Bank and the Macomb County Trust Company.

Their announcement says:

"We have given this change of rate most careful consideration and adopted it as we believe it to be a good, sensible move to make at this time. The rate of interest that a bank can get on its liquid investments is changing so rapidly that a three percent rate is now a fair and decent rate to pay on deposits."
