Benton Park

Freidrich Hecker Monumnet

Location: Benton Park, Jefferson & Arsenal

Sculptor: Charles Steubenraugh / Ernest C. Janssen

Hecker, Frederich - A German Revolutionist who came to St. Louis in the forties. Hecker commanded the German, 24th Illinois Infantry ("Hecker Regiment") and the 82nd Illinois Infantry. Hecker resided near Belleville, Illinois but when the war started he joined as a private in a St. Louis Union regiment. At the Battle of Chancellorsville, he severely wounded while carrying the battle flag during a charge on a Confederate position. He was also a leader in the failed German Revolution before coming to America.

The memorial is a shaft of gray stone. On two sides are circular medallions with the dates 1848 (German Revolution) in one, and 1861 (Civil War) in the other. There is a third medallion with a bronze portrait of Hecker, in high relief, set in on the North side. The sculptor was Charles Stubenraugh. On the opposite side is a bronze wreath of oak leaves. On four sides of the base of the shaft, above the medallions, are four torches carved in full relief in the stone, and above these are four stars in high relief. Ernest C. Janssen was the Architect, and the memorial was erected in 1882 before a crowd of 15,000.

2 Tennis courts
(Lighted)

Close to the southern entrance of the park is a granite obelisk monument to the memory of Colonel Friedrich Karl Franz Hecker, who raised a regiment of local German-Americans during the Civil War, serving first under Fremont and later commanding his own brigade in the Union Army. The shaft, designed by architect Ernest C. Janssen, was dedicated in 1882.

In recent years, Benton Park has been completely remodeled and attractively landscaped with the city's neighborhood rehabilitation funds derived from the sale of City property, as part of the Cherokee Pilot Rehabilitation Area. The large playground is provided with new and modern equipment and an excellent storage and shelter building was erected overlooking the lake.

Thanks to Greg Stock, we now have some very nice pictures of Benton Park from the late 1800's.

If you or someone you know has images of the area from old, PLEASE contact me and I can have them digitized and place them on the web for other to enjoy. I would love to create a complete history under the Neighborhood section of this web site but I will need content to do this. I will be scouring the History Museum Library for more images but, if you have some from your childhood or your parents do . . . please share them.

Benton Park and the Friedrich Hecker Monument

From Interstate 44, take Jefferson Avenue about one mile to its intersection with Main Street. Turn left (east) on Arsenal, and Benton Park will be on the right (south). No parking is allowed on the Benton Park side of Arsenal. For the easiest access to the Hecker monument, continue on Arsenal to Lemp Street. Turn right on Lemp and then right again at the intersection with Wyoming. Follow Wyoming to the south side of Benton Park. The Hecker monument is visible from the street.

Many political refugees arrived in America in the late 1840s after the failed republican revolutions in central Europe, but few were as prominent as Friedrich Franz Karl Hecker.

Hecker arrived in New York City on October 4, 1848, to a welcome that he described as the greatest reception for a European since the arrival of Lafayette. As a prominent lawyer in Germany, Hecker had been a fiery and outspoken champion of the people, and he came to America determined to continue the fight for republican reforms in his native land. He moved west and settled on a farm near Belleville, Illinois, becoming a leader in the St. Louis area German community. He was an active supporter of the 1852 presidential candidate of the Republican Party, John C. Frémont, and enthusiastically sought German support for Abraham Lincoln's presidency four years later.²¹

When war broke out, the fifty-year-old Hecker enlisted as a private in a Union three-hundredth regiment in St. Louis. He was soon recommended by friends to Chicago to command the 24th Illinois Infantry, a German regiment named "the Hecker Regiment" in his honor. His experience with the 24th Illinois was stormy.
Hecker's orders dismissing undesirable officers—and potential political rivals—were decried all the way to Secretary of War Jefferson Cameron before an unsatisfactory compromise was worked out in November 1861. Hecker took sick leave in protest.²²

Another German regiment, the 82d Illinois Infantry, was mustered into service in October 1862, and Colonel Hecker was appointed to command it. After moving to the Eastern Theater of the war, the regiment was made part of Major General Carl Schurz' division, XI

Corps, Army of the Potomac. On the afternoon of May 2, 1863, at Chancellorsville, Virginia, the 82d Illinois had the misfortune to be directly in the path of General Thomas J. Jackson's flank attack. Hecker grabbed the regimental colors and ordered his men forward, but Confederate fire brought him down almost immediately. After his recovery, he led a brigade in Schurz' division in the Chattanooga campaign, but he retired from military service in early 1864.²³

Hecker returned to active participation in politics, his patriotism heightened by his combat experience. In a Fourth of July oration in Trenton, Illinois, in 1871, Hecker boldly proclaimed his view of his new fatherland: "I am the destiny of the old world—I am America, and I will plant the banner of the deliverance of humanity in every land." On a similar occasion in Stuttgart, Germany, Hecker praised the "three miracles of America" that he had seen in his lifetime: the abolition of slavery, the return of huge armies to civilian pursuits, and the decision of the victorious not to bestow medals on their generals.
Hecker died on March 24, 1881, and was buried near Summerfield, Illinois.²⁴

Benton Park was created by city ordinance on June 25, 1866, converting a graveyard of seventeen acres to a city park. The land had been used for burials from 1840 until 1865, at which time the bodies were removed to Arsenal Island. The park's original acreage has been slowly reduced by the encroachment of the surrounding streets. On Sunday, October 1, 1882, a crowd of fifteen thousand gathered to witness the unveiling of the monument. Dr. Emil Prectorius, editor of Westliche Post, opened the ceremony, which included orations in German and songs, and instrumental music. A granddaughter of Hecker, then unveiled the monument.

The tall obelisk of gray granite is the highest point in Benton Park and occupies a small lagoon. The shaft bears a plaque with an image of Hecker on its north face, and a bronze relief done by German sculptor Karl Stubenrauch. A wreath once graced the south side of the monument; an oak wreath has been placed in its place. St. Louisan Ernst C. J.
Jung was the monument's architect.²⁵

On the east and west sides of the monument are the years "1848" and "1863," the dates of the two revolutions that gave meaning to the life of Friedrich Hecker.

Brother Walt,

I fully support your efforts as the Department's Memorials Office to request funding from the SUVCW Civil War Memorials-Monuments Fund to restore these two monuments.

Assume you are familiar with the SUVCW Form 62, but if not enclosed is the application Westport Camp used for the GAR historical marker. This could also be a Grant Camp request, unless you feel the Department name will carry more weight with the committee. I suggest two separate applications, one for each monument, in the hope of obtaining $2,000 per restoration --$2,000 being the grant maximum. The committee's encampment report was that they distributed their full $12,000 budget for this fiscal year with three applications that were unfunded, but part of the discussion revealed there was an approximately $22,000 reserve that the committee had not used.

You may want to consider a grant request to the SUVCW Charitable Foundation. If Westport Camp can get a $500 pledge for a new GAR marker, I'm thinking restoring existing monuments would easily qualify.

If you need a donation from the Department, then we might want to discuss at the October business meeting, and weight these restorations along with the two proposed GAR historical markers --I think all four need the Department's support. I'm excited that Missouri is moving from documenting the 543 Missouri Civil War monuments to restoring and caring for the 543 markers (by the way, I slipped that into our Department's oral report and the CinC stated to the encampment his gratitude to Walter Busch on the accomplishment). Thanks.

Commander and Councils ---

Can I get department OK to pursue funding to repair two monuments in St. Louis. One is to General Lyons and is missing his bronze high-relief bust. THE other is Col. Friedrich Hecker, GAR member, who is missing his bronze high-relief bust and a bronze laurel wreath on the back. Otherwise both are in good shape. A German group is trying to raise funds for the Hecker monument and they've priced repairs at $17,000. I would like to pursue some SUVCW funding at the national level (probably around $2,000) to be used on this project.

We would need to keep track of money taken in for this project and would probably be turning it over to the German Group and the Artist.

Lyon is longer range as I need to generate interest in it.

Dear Brother Grim:

Attached is an application for assisting in the restoration of the Hecker Monument in St. Louis. Colonel Friedrich Hecker was a famous freedom fighter in the 1848 Revolutions who fled to America and later joined the US Army as a private to assist in the capture of Camp Jackson, MO. He was later Colonel of two Illinois regiments. Two of the medallions on the monument are missing. Both were bronze about 24 inches diameter. One is a high relief portrait of Hecker and the other is a laurel wreath. It will take about $17,000 to restore the medallions.

The work is being done by Vlad Zhitomirsky who recently created the Dred Scott Monument at the St. Louis Courthouse.

http://www.thedredscottfoundation.org/dshf/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=156&Itemid=53 Additional funding for restoring the monument are being worked on by the Missouri German Consortium, who has been "promised" some funding by the German government. I have been authorized by the Department of Missouri, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War to front our efforts to restore this monument. I would like to put in for $2,000 to this effort. Our department is also meeting in October and hopefully will vote some additional funds.

I enclose your form as well as a copy of our Form 61.
